Kata Kunci: destination image, attitude, information coverage, terrorism, Bali

Employing the experimental design approach, this study wants to prove the moderating effect of information coverage on the probability of terrorist attack occurrence on the relationship between destination image and people attitude toward Bali as a tourism destination. The treatments are performed using 2x2 factorial design by providing four blogs containing the combination of two levels of positive image and two levels of information coverage. The result of analysis on the responses from 100 participants shows no significant relationship among the variables studied. However, further analysis reveals that participants from countries that geographically far from Indonesia shows higher positive attitude toward Bali when high positive image is present. This also shows the limitation of this study in providing proper treatment for the diverse participants. This implies the importance of matching between the information and target audience background for destination marketers in building destination image or changing people attitude.

Keywords: destination image, attitude, information coverage, terrorism, Bali

MOTTO

*It is not the critic who counts;
not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles,
or where the doer of deeds could have done them better.
The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena,
whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly;
who errs, who comes short again and again,
because there is no effort without error and shortcoming;
but who does actually strive to do the deeds;
who knows great enthusiasms, the great devotions;
who spends himself in a worthy cause;
who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement,
and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who neither know victory nor defeat.*

Theodore Roosevelt

*The bird fights its way out of the egg. The egg is the world.
Who would be born must first destroy a world.
The bird flies to God. That God's name is Abraxas.*

Preface

These four years of undergraduate learning has been a long and tough sequence of my life, yet, during this sequence I learnt a lot of things, friendships, hard work, patience, commitment, compassion, and perseverance. The way to complete this work itself is not an easy part. I found a lot of hardships and scepticism from people around me, but I also find support and love as well as praise. This work will never be finished without great help from my lovely friends around the globe and my family.

However, before I offer my greatest gratitude to everybody who have help me completing this work, I would like to offer my greatest and highest pray for the God who has stitch my life so beautifully so that I can see the beauty of His blessings and creations. Secondly, I would like to thanks my research supervisor Dr. Budhi Haryanto, MM who has showed me the direction and offers his great effort to make this piece of work become an excellent creation. I also offer my gratitude for:

1. Dr. Hunik Sri Runing Sawitri, M.Si., my dean.
2. Mr. Reza Rahardian, SE., M.Si, the head of Management Department, and
3. Dr. Muhammad Cholil, MM, my academic supervisor; thank you very much for giving me all the direction I need in finishing my study.
4. I would like to present my acknowledgement and highest gratitude for everyone who had helped me in collecting the data for this study; The embassy of the Republic of Indonesia Finland, especially Mrs. Rendy.
